Short Description

Reconditioned violin bow by R. Weichold of Dresden

Description

We have tried to change as little as possible while still putting the bow into a usable condition.

Work to this bow includes a re-hair, new screw, eye and button (these were not original) and cleaning.

The lapping with the weave (which we believe to be original) has been left but it does have some damage and wear.

The frog also has some damage in the form of cracks, but we have not replaced this as again we believe it is original.

The slide is interesting as it is slightly tapered. Weight of this bow is 57 grams
